Dear Sir/Madam,

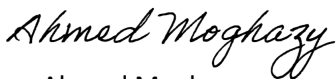

This is to recommend Clarissa Itschert. I have known Clarissa for a whole year as my classmate in our Master's study at Central Film School for Directing Fiction. From the start her passion for filmmaking was very obvious, covering the full range of Editing, Directing, Writing and Acting. With a lot of self-learning and some room to innovate she quickly took over most of the grad films either as a Producer or as an Assistant Director showing amazing organizing skills and high attention to details.

Clarissa and I worked on many projects along the year including graduation films, documentary series, school assignments shoots. Every time Clarissa wore a different hat including videography, photography, producing, script supervision...etc., and on each occasion she showed a great understanding for the role she is taking and for this role's duties and responsibilities.

Clarissa produced my grad film, and she showed exceptional efficiency and professionalism when it came to crisis management either on set or at the pre-production phase. She solved a lot of problems on the spot including finding a replacement for our DP 2 days before the shoot depending on the wide network that she built through being on many film sets throughout the whole year. As a producer, she spread a lot of positive energy and motivation on set which boosts the energy and ownership sense of the crew, she does that while keeping in mind a mature understanding and distinction between when to be serious to get things done on set and when to brighten the atmosphere and have fun.

I am sure that she will be an excellent addition to your team because of her passion, hard work, ability to learn and eagerness to grow.

Sincerely,

Ahmed Moghazy
